And meanwhile, I saw Mike Huckabee today. He's tweeting videos of his dogs—I forget what their names are. They're some cutesy Arkansas names, like MacArthur and Spuds McKenzie or something. I think he should name his dogs Gog and Magog. But he's filming himself walking down a hallway to the shelter inside the U.S. Embassy, where he's been spending all his time after launching a war for the Rapture. Great operational security—great OPSEC—to show everyone where the shelter is in the U.S. Embassy.

But before that strange video, Mike Huckabee was hanging out—allegedly—in this very weird video with Benjamin Netanyahu, who had been rumored dead on the Internet and just delivered a press conference today. Netanyahu's obsessed with the Internet. It's amazing. He's been fixated on proving that he's alive. And I love that this is happening—Grayzone's audience is living in his head rent-free. Here he is with Huckabee. This is one of the most revealing, weirdest videos I've ever seen involving a U.S. official.

#Speaker 1

Mr. Prime Minister, I want you to know the President asked me to come and make sure you were okay.

#Max

Wait a minute—did you see Huckabee's head? I'm going to slow it down. Have you seen this video before, Aaron?

#Aaron Mate

No.

#Max

Okay, watch what happens to his head. I slowed it down—just watch Huckabee's head and hairline closely.

#Speaker 2

You know, the President asked me to come and make sure you were okay.

#Max

Right there. Right there. Did you see that?

#Speaker 2

Make sure you're okay.

#Aaron Mate

Yeah, it kind of changes in the light.

#Max

Is that what it is?

#Aaron Mate

Yeah.

#Max

Okay.

#Aaron Mate

Listen, I think too much time has been spent trying to find evidence of AI in Netanyahu's video. The guy's in a bunker counting dead Muslim children—that's what he's doing.

#Max

Okay, so let's watch the rest of it, though, because it's still significant.

#Speaker 2

Yes, Mike, yes, I'm alive. I checked that, and I'm happy to see it. But he wanted to make sure, because, you know, you guys get along too well.

#Speaker 3

I know—and we shake hands. You know what the good news is? My name's not on the punch card. "Weapons and the means to deliver them to every American city after wiping out Israel." Thank him for that. We're like, "I love it."

#Max

I mean, it's almost hard to believe it's real—Mike Huckabee is literally thanking Benjamin Netanyahu for not including him on his mafia assassination list.

#Aaron Mate

Yes, and it's Mike Huckabee needing to get Benjamin Netanyahu's blessing to live, basically. "Don't worry," Netanyahu says, "you're one of the good guys, so don't worry, I'm not going to kill you." And then, of course, there's the lie about Iran trying to develop nuclear weapons to deliver to U.S. cities. They're just taking the Iraq War playbook. I mean, it was insulting coming from an American politician, an American leader, to the American public. Now the fact that it's an Israeli leader delivering this, while also joking about how he could kill the U.S. ambassador if he wanted to—and the ambassador sort of going along with the joke and being deferential—is so humiliating and says a lot about the nature of the U.S.-Israeli relationship.

#Max

Yep. I mean, that video perfectly encapsulates it. And Huckabee's just like, "Thank you for not killing me, Bibi."

#Aaron Mate

But that list Netanyahu has—he wants you to think he's referring to Iranian leaders he's killing. Well, there's a much longer list of people he's killing: Iranian civilians, civilians in Lebanon, and of course, civilians in Palestine.

#Max

And journalists.

#Aaron Mate

And journalists.

#Max

And he denied that Charlie Kirk was on that list last year.

#Aaron Mate

The fact that he had to deny that Charlie Kirk was on the list shows how understandably suspicious everyone is of Israel, because of how evil they are. The fact that he was even forced to deny an Israeli role in Charlie Kirk's murder shows that no one trusts this state—and for good reason.
